

Yes, There Really Will Be An Election on June 24

To many voters, it may be a surprise that a primary election is coming up on June 24. Primaries in years of gubernatorial elections in Maryland are now held on the last Tuesday in June rather than, as used to be the case, the second Tuesday in September. This change, made in 2011 when the governor and General Assembly were also changing dates for the presidential primary, was in part a response to federal legislation designed to provide military and overseas voters sufficient time to receive absentee ballots and participate in elections.

Because it was thought that too many folks would be at the beach in July and August, the primary date was moved to June, which also has the effect of extending the general election campaign period (and the robocalls) by three months.

Another effect is that many pundits are predicting a low turnout. Skeptics who would prefer to take a pass on their polling place on June 24 should mark their calendars for getting an absentee ballot or for voting early at a polling place.

Early Voting

Early voting will be available for eight days from Thursday, June 12 through Thursday, June 19 from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Voters may vote only at early voting centers within their own county, but there are now eight locations where Prince Georgians can vote. All early voting centers are accessible to voters with disabilities. The voting process is the same at early voting centers as it is on election day. The same voting machines are used, and election judges are available to direct and assist voters.

The polling locations for early voting closest to Greenbelt in order of distance are the College Park Community Center, 5051 Pierce Avenue, College Park; the Wayne K. Curry Sports & Learning Center, Landover Room A, 8001 Sheriff Road, Landover; the

by Sue Krofchik

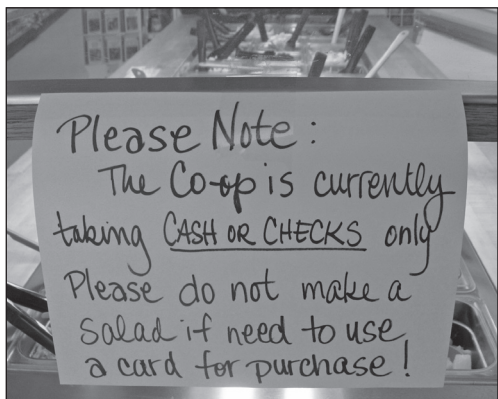

The Greenbelt Co-op Supermarket and Pharmacy temporarily suspended all credit and debit card use by patrons last week due to a possible security breach in its on-line payment system, though no evidence confirms a breach at this time. Purchases must be paid for by cash or personal check until this issue is resolved.

Bob Davis, general manager of the Co-op Supermarket and Pharmacy, issued a notice (via the Co-op website, patron emails and signs at registers and at the doors) that credit and debit cards of many Greenbelters were compromised during the week ending May 23.

The online payment system was taken down to reduce any further fraud risk for customers. It will remain down until additional security measures are in place and the Co-op is 100 percent confident that customer financial accounts are not vulnerable to potential security threats.

The availability of an independent ATM in the store has helped customers access cash needed for groceries.

Management is working with a security assessor company to determine if the Co-op is the source of a security breach and, if it is, how it occurred and what other measures can be taken to improve electronic security in the future.

Davis stated, "The Co-op apologizes for any inconvenience related to not being able to use credit and debit cards while its assessment is conducted. We sincerely appreciate your continued support throughout this process."

Davis was unable to provide additional information due to the ongoing nature of the investigation.

Greenbelt FCU

The Greenbelt Federal Credit Union is closely monitoring the situation according to Treasurer-General Manager Cynthia A. Comproni, who added, "The credit union was not the point of compromise."

She stressed the need for people to be on alert for phishing scams which increase in number once word about a possible security breach is made public. She said it really worries her, and she

City Council Opts for 3/4-cent Increase in Property Tax Rate

by Thomas X. White

At its final budget worksession on May 19 the Greenbelt City Council found itself between a rock and a hard place making choices among about 15 so-called wish list items that could or should be added to the city's Fiscal Year 2015 budget. In the end, they reached consensus on 10 expenditure items. These would add $200,500 to City Manager Michael McLaughlin's proposed budget.

On the revenue side, only $50,000 in health insurance savings could offset the new expenditures. To make up the difference, a majority of council agreed to increase the city tax rate by 3/4 of a cent, an increase providing about $142,000, thus bringing the budget close to balance.

At that point, the city manager said the small shortfall ($2,300) could be met by use of unappropriated funds.

Six councilmembers were present; only Judith Davis was unable to attend. The worksession was

By the end of the meeting, council reached an informal consensus on the following additions to the FY 2015 budget:

Replacement of Labor Day booths with tents	$9,000
Staff addition in city manager's office (one-half year)	$45,000
IT position*	$60,000
External Relations Contractor (Organizational Assessment)	$30,000
Additional Advisory Committee for Education grants	$2,000
City participation in study for County Animal Shelter	$5,000
Contribution for Alight Dance Theater	$1,000
Contribution for CHEARS project	$500
Recreation Supervisor (one-half year)	$35,000
Set city minimum wage at county level ($8.40/hr.)	$13,000

* (in Police Dept. but available to other departments) held in council chambers and viewed on the city's website.

Davis had provided her colleagues with a written report on her positions on the wish list items. She had indicated that a slight increase in the city tax rate would be necessary.

Councilmember Leta Mach also provided council with her preferences among wish list items, suggesting a 3/4 cent increase to fund some of the items.

Council discussion on the wish list items led to a substantial amount of give-and-take, resulting in modification of several items, especially those that called for new staff positions.

Budget Additions

Consensus positions taken at the final worksession will be incorporated into a revised FY 2015 budget and will be on the agenda of the Wednesday, June 4 meeting and for adoption by the city council.

Greenbelt Day Weekend Artful Afternoon: Garden of Dreams

Enjoy a garden of creative delights at the Artful Afternoon on Sunday, June 1 – part of the city's Greenbelt Day Weekend celebration. Dance performances, crafts, live music, a studio open house, a pottery sale, art and history exhibits and the mayor's address are all in store for Sunday.

Artful Afternoons are a monthly program of the Greenbelt Recreation Department. All ages are welcome. Most activities are free. Times for individual activities vary (see ad on page 12 for details).

Alight Dance Theater will perform its new, site-specific dance piece in the Three Sisters Garden by the flagpole on the grounds of the Community Center. This piece is one of three dances created for the Greenbelt demonstration gardens through a partnership with the Chesapeake Education, Arts and Research Society (CHEARS). Performances will take place at 2, 2:30, 3 and 3:30 p.m. Each performance will be followed by a brief talk on sustainable, bay-friendly garden practices led by a CHEARS representative.

From 1 to 3 p.m., participate in a free craft workshop with Artist-in-residence Gina Denn. Using beads and wire, create a shimmering web and (optionally) its long-legged inhabitant. At 3 p.m., Greenbelt Mayor Emmett Jordan will offer an address in celebration of Greenbelt's 77th anniversary. Following the mayor's remarks, the Greenbelt Concert Band will perform.

Throughout the afternoon, enjoy a variety of additional activities at leisure. See the new art gallery exhibit featuring children's picture book and e-book illustrations by up-and-coming artists. From noon to 5 p.m. the gallery will also host a ceramic arts sale with members of the Greenbelt Pottery Group. From 1 to 4 p.m., visit a studio open house and sale with the Community Center's nine artists-in-residence, offering beautiful and affordable paintings, fiber arts, greeting cards and much more.

Also, see the Greenbelt Museum's current exhibit, "Greenbelt: The First 75 Years" (ongoing). This exhibit explores the city's history through an interactive timeline.

For more local history, tour the Greenbelt Museum's historic house at 10-B Crescent Road, across the street from the Community Center. Tours are available between 1 and 5 p.m. for a nominal fee.

For more information about City of Greenbelt arts programs, visit greenbeltnmd.gov/arts or call 240-542-2057. Arts programs are sponsored in part by the Maryland State Arts Council.

Much Progress at Your Community Newspaper

June 1 begins our next fund drive – we call it a voluntary subscription. Let us say first, we are not as anxious as we were last year; income and expenses have been much closer to even this past year. Two reasons account for the improvement – first is the marvelous response from you our readers, about $10,000. The second is the increase in advertising which, of course, is the ultimate goal – to pay our own way.

Our hats are off to the Democratic Club, the Greenbelt Credit Union and Town Center Realty who increased the sizes of their ads. A number of new advertisers have made an even bigger contribution – Beltway Plaza Mall, Old Line Wine and Spirits, Money One, GATE, Utopia Film Festival, Club125 and, most recently, Ryan Homes. Our bread and butter is paid for by our old faithfuls – the City of Greenbelt, the Co-op, the McCarls, National Co-op Bank, Greenbelt Homes and a host of others. We like the story of Tony’s Urban Carpet who said his business has grown because of his ad. Tony encouraged his competitor to take out an ad. The next week his competitor followed through. Thanks, Tony.

Late flash – Evergreen Co-op and Doctors Hospital are both considering a run of sizeable ads this year.

When you have the opportunity, please say thank you to our advertisers for their support. The box on this page suggests some other ways that you can help support your News Review.

Letters to the Editor

Clarity on Fireworks

It’s almost the 4th of July. I am writing now to give the city and the police time to inform Greenbelters about the laws on fireworks.

I had thought that fireworks of all kinds were illegal in Prince George’s County. But the last two years, on July 4, fireworks have been set off in two places. One is on Ridge Road around the entrances to the cul-de-sacs for 16 and 13 courts. The other is at the intersection of Southway and Crescent near the city offices. Both times, this happened just when the fireworks are over at the lake.

The police can’t be in two places at the same time and the distance is too far for them to get from one to the other to catch the people setting off these fireworks.

If I’m wrong and some fireworks are legal in Prince George’s County, then I need an education, too.

Let’s set the record straight. It may keep somebody from being maimed or killed.

Patricia Heil

THANKS!

When illness or death strikes a family the most common response from neighbors is “Let me know if there is anything that I can do.” This is sincerely offered but it may have the disadvantage of asking the stricken family to think through their needs and make appropriate requests.

Last weekend neighbors and friends of Amy and Rick Grier at 19 Court Ridge Road gave help and comfort far beyond that usually given.

Amy died May 21 after a six-year battle with cancer and a hospitalization of seven weeks. Neighbors saw needs created by the long illness and hospitalization and, without being asked, came to the home and throughout the three-day holiday weekend worked to make the loss more bearable by beautifying the home and garden. Many young children witnessed this outpouring of generosity and participated by serving cupcakes and drinks.

THANKS!

Thank you to everyone who attended the free movies screened at the Old Greenbelt Theatre during the past three weekends this month. Thanks are due also to the organizers of the Utopia Film Festival and the GAVA/GATE Animation Program for providing the program for Saturday, May 17.

Many folks in the audiences told us they appreciated the film screenings and over $500 was received in donations toward the restoration of the theater’s auditorium in Phase 2 of the renovation plans.

Way to Go!

From the school system website: Oluwakonyinsola Opeyemi Adesoye, Miles A. Harriston, Ahmed M. Kamil and Chiamaka K. Ogwuegbu were among the 800 students across the country who earned the $2,500 National Achievement Scholarship. Dr. Kevin M. Maxwell, chief executive officer for Prince George’s County Public Schools, issued a statement saying, “Congratulations to these outstanding students from Eleanor Roosevelt High School who have earned this prestigious honor.”

Congratulations again to the students, Principal Reginald McNeill and the Roosevelt Team for their outstanding work and accomplishments!

Obituaries

Amy Wellborn Grier

Amy Wellborn Grier, 48, of Ridge Road died May 21, 2014, at the University of Maryland Medical Center due to complications from a stem cell transplant after battling leukemia and lymphoma for the past six years.

Mrs. Grier was born February 4, 1966, in Northport, N.Y., and moved to a dairy farm in Accident, Md., when she was five. She attended Garrett County schools and graduated from the University of Virginia in 1988. She completed her master's degree in social work at the University of Maryland in 1992. She specialized in the treatment of attachment disorder.

Mrs. Grier was also very active in school and community activities in Greenbelt.

She was an avid reader and gardener. She loved parties and being with friends and family.

She was married to Richard Grier and is survived by her husband, daughters Emma (16) and Jennifer (11); mother Elizabeth Wellborn; sister Kathy Wellborn; brother David Wellborn; and numerous nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles and cousins.

Mrs. Grier was loved and respected by many and courageous in her struggle to overcome cancer. Her impact on the lives of her clients will be felt for generations as she taught them to love and parent. She was compassionate, funny and wise to mention a few of her remarkable attributes.

Michael C. Repole

Michael Repole, 65, died of cancer on May 24, 2014, in Annapolis. Mr. Repole and his two brothers Mario and Peter were the founding partners of Three Brothers Pizza in Beltway Plaza Mall in 1976.

The family, originally from Rapone, Italy, had moved in 1963, first to New York City, where they operated a number of establishments including a deli and a doughnut shop.

Mr. Repole was known for his generosity in Greenbelt especially for the police department and the Labor Day Festival Committee.

Mr. Repole is survived by his wife Rita; daughter Sandy Repole; brothers Mario (Patricia) and Peter (Laurie) Repole; brother-in-law Pierluegi (Elena) Bo; and numerous nieces, nephews and great-nieces.

A public visitation was held on May 28 at the George P. Kalas Funeral Home in Edgewater, Md., with the funeral service on May 29 at 11:30 a.m. Interment will follow in Lakemont Memorial Gardens. Donations may be made to a charity of one's choice.

Our sympathy to Richard, Emma and Jennifer Grier of Ridge Road on the death of his wife and their mother, Amy Wellborn Grier, who died May 21, 2014. Sympathy also to the extended Wellborn family and friends.

We were sorry to hear of the death on May 18, 2014, of Dorothy Ann (“Dot”) Hart of Laurel, Del. She was a 1957 graduate of High Point High School and was the daughter of the late Harry and Dorothy Rhodes, Greenbelt pioneers.

Greenbelters are saddened to learn of the death of Michael C. Repole of Annapolis on May 24, 2014. He was one of the three brothers who founded Three Brothers Pizza at Beltway Plaza Mall.

Congratulations to:

- Eleanor Roosevelt High School seniors Oluwakonyinsola Opeyemi Adesoye, Miles A. Harriston, Ahmed M. Kamil and Chiamaka K. Ogwuegbu, who were announced as recipients of $2,500 National Achievement Scholarships for academic achievement awarded to African American high school seniors. Ogwuegbu wrote articles for the News Review.
- Amy Leigh Morris, who graduated from the University of Maryland with a B.S. in kinesiology. She is the daughter of Jan and Scott Morris of Columbia and granddaughter of Jon and Judy Bell of Greenbelt.
- Frostburg State University graduate, lifelong Greenbelter John Daniel Flanagan (known as “J.D.”), with a B.S. in recreational management, the son of Karen (Bailey) and Danny Flanagan and grandson of Shirley and the late Raymond Bailey.
- Aleisha Wiley from Shenandoah University in Winchester, Va., who graduated with a B.B.A. (bachelor of business administration). She is the daughter of Rosette Barner-Wiley and granddaughter of William and June Barner.
- Tatiana Alvarado, daughter of News Review Circulation Manager Ian Tuckman, who graduates from Tuscarora High School in Frederick, Md., this Friday.

Turner Hosts Annual Lunch For Greenbelt Seniors

Prince George’s County Councilmember Ingrid Turner, (D – District 4), hosted her annual luncheon for City of Greenbelt seniors at the Greenbelt Community Center on Friday, May 16. The luncheon was held to honor the senior citizens of the Golden Age Club and the surrounding Greenbelt community.

During the gathering, Maryland Secretary of Aging Gloria Lawlah and Director of Prince George’s County Family Services Theresa Grant shared information important to seniors and gave them an opportunity to ask questions. Those attending enjoyed a delicious lunch catered by Tatum Carnell Catering. Councilmember Turner extended a special thank you to the group for its support and contributions to the City of Greenbelt and Prince George’s County.

Councilmember Turner said “I always look forward to fellowshiping and listening to the needs of our seniors from the Greenbelt community. I hope this luncheon gathering provided the opportunity for them to ask questions, get important information, fellowship and enjoy good food.”

Mary Hooper, a longtime Greenbelt resident, enjoyed the luncheon and commented on the support Greenbelt receives from Councilmember Turner. “This was a wonderful event,” she said, “and Councilmember Turner has done an outstanding job supporting the senior residents of Greenbelt.”

On Saturday, May 31 from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., find some 1812 ancestors and meet Rosalie Calvert at Belair Mansion. Genealogist Rebecca Koford will offer tips to find 1812 ancestors. Bring a brown bag lunch. Drinks and desserts will be provided. Tour the genealogy library.

Mary Ann Jung will speak as Riversdale’s Rosalie Calvert about the War of 1812. Free but reservations are required by calling 301-809-3089 or visiting museums@cityofbowie.org.

Laurel-Beltsville Senior Activity Center, 7120 Contee Road, Laurel; and the Bowie Community Center, 3209 Stonybrook Drive, Bowie. Other centers are located in Forestville, Upper Marlboro, Ft. Washington and Brandywine.

Absentee Voting

No reason or excuse is required to vote absentee. Any qualified voter who prefers to vote in a location other than a polling place may request an absentee ballot from the Prince George’s County Board of Elections no later than Tuesday, June 17. When the county has approved the application and sent out the ballot, the voter must either bring or mail the ballot to the county board office by election day, June 24.

How can one get an application for an absentee ballot? There are three ways. Those who have a Maryland driver’s license or an identification card issued by the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) may apply for the ballot online. An online form may be printed out and returned to the Prince George’s County Board of Elections in Largo by mail, fax or email (scanned as an attachment). The voter may also go to the county board of elections office to fill out a form or call to have one sent. In applying for the ballot, the voter will designate a preference for receiving the ballot either by mail or email.

Voters who cannot themselves go to the board of elections office may also designate someone to take their completed application form to the county board and pick up the ballot. Doing so requires completion of a Designation of Agent form, which is available online or from the county board of elections office. The ballot itself will contain detailed instructions for completing and returning it.

A voted absentee ballot must either be mailed with a postmark no later than June 24 or delivered in person to the board of elections office by 8 p.m. on June 24. It cannot be submitted online or by email or fax. Nor can it be taken to an early voting center or to a polling place on election day.

For information about early and absentee voting, go to elections.state.md.us/voting. The new address and contact information for the Prince George’s County Board of Elections office is 1100 Mercantile Lane, Suite 115A, Largo, MD 20774, 301-341-7300. Email may be sent to election@co.pg.md.us. Operating hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Moon Bounce was a big attraction at the Lakewood picnic.

Lakewood Holds Picnic May 3 To Foster Neighborly Feeling

by Kathleen McFarland

The newly revitalized Lakewood Civic Association held a getting-to-know-you picnic on Saturday, May 3 on the grounds of Greenbelt Baptist Church. Older residents and many newer families with young children got together on a beautiful day for a luncheon under the trees and a chance to meet and greet their neighbors.

The new president and organizer of the group, Daniel Gomez, was the chef, turning out hamburgers and hotdogs for hours.

The moon bounce kept the kids jumping all afternoon. Older neighbors were surprised but delighted to see the large number of young parents with children who have moved into the community within the past several years.

Everyone is looking forward to more neighbor-friendly events in the future and the updating of the Lakewood directory of residents.

CHEARS, Alight Dance to Welcome Summer

The Chesapeake Education, Arts and Research Society (CHEARS), in partnership with Alight Dance Theater, has announced a second Three Sisters Gardens for All Seasons event to take place on Sunday, June 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. This free dance performance and a watershed model activity are planned to be fun for all ages. In conjunction with the Greenbelt Recreation Department’s monthly Artful Afternoon program, the event takes place at the Three Sisters Demonstration Garden adjacent to the Greenbelt Community Center.

The Three Sisters Demonstration Gardens and Food Forest is a project of CHEARS that demonstrates organic and bay-friendly growing practices, healthy food options and eco arts through educational workshops, plantings and meet-ups. A food forest engages local residents to expand the urban tree canopy, improve local water and soil quality, and mitigate environmental problems related to storm water runoff and other pollution through managing an edible landscape that benefits wildlife and people.

Alight Dance Theater will perform a 20-minute dance in the garden every half-hour, accompanied by the music of Vivaldi and the sweet fragrance of fresh herbs and flowers. This program is the second performance in Alight’s Dance in the Garden series, which debuted on April 26 at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center to an enthusiastic crowd of local residents. With the cool, rainy days of spring fading into our memories, Alight offers this new dance as a celebration of the warmth, freedom, and fruitfulness of summer to come.

In between the dance performances, folks of all ages can participate in an interactive watershed model. Participants can learn ways to improve water quality in local rivers and streams by pouring rain over a diorama of a typical Maryland landscape. This watershed land use model is fun, educational and family-friendly.

Alight Dance Theater’s final Dance in the Garden performance will be on Saturday, October 18 from 2 to 4 p.m. with a

These events are in part supported by Toyota TogetherGreen, the City of Greenbelt, the Greenbelt Community Foundation and the Maryland Heritage Areas Authority.

What Is Playful, Healthy and Moving?

The KaBOOM! Playful City USA program, sponsored by the Humana Foundation, honors cities, towns and communities across America that are taking steps to ensure that all children have easy access to balanced and active play. For 2014 the City of Greenbelt was honored for the eighth year as a Playful City USA. Across the country, 212 cities hold the honor.

Acting Assistant Director of Recreation Greg Varda commented, “Greenbelt is considered a leader in playability – the extent to which a city makes it easy for kids to get balanced, active play. Our town promotes playtime as one benchmark in healthy living.

“One initiative on the horizon for Greenbelt,” Varda adds, “is a website tool that helps residents track their physical activity. This is exciting for us. Greenbelt is truly on the move these days, and we’re keeping healthy living current through the use of technology.”

The “Playful City” award overlaps with several other designations including having been named a Healthy Eating Active Living (HEAL) City, a municipality that sets forth a framework where all people can make healthy food choices and be physically active.

Further, Greenbelt has completed key health and wellness goals for Let’s Move! Cities, Towns and Counties (LMCTC), which is dedicated to solving the childhood obesity epidemic within a generation.

Of these honors, Varda says, “There’s overlap for us in our initiatives, which is important if Greenbelt is going to address healthy living from different angles.”

DWI/DUI

May 13, 4:30 p.m., Mandan Terrace and Greenbelt Road. A 65-year-old Greenbelt resident was arrested for multiple alcohol and traffic-related charges as a result of a traffic accident investigation. She was released on citation pending trial.

Assault

May 21, 12:10 p.m., Greenbelt Road and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. A 22-year-old Greenbelt resident was arrested for second degree assault, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and failure to obey a lawful order during a traffic stop. He was released to the Department of Corrections for a hearing before a district court commissioner.

Strong Arm Robbery

May 19, 4:30 p.m., 7400 block Greenbelt Road. A woman was in the Greenway Shopping Center parking lot on April 2 when a man ran by her, taking her computer bag from her hand. He then fled the scene in a vehicle described as a yellow sedan with unknown Maryland tags. The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 25 years old, 6'1", 210 pounds, with red hair, wearing a blue jacket and jeans. The victim delayed reporting the incident because she lived out of the area and had no transportation.

Unattended Children

May 19, 10:35 p.m., 6000 block Breezewood Court. A 27-year-old Greenbelt resident was arrested and charged with leaving a child unattended after three children, ages eight, six and one, were discovered unattended in a residence. The suspect was released on citation pending trial and the children were released to the mother.

Star-Spangled Banner Manuscript Travels

Francis Scott Key's original, handwritten manuscript of the Star-Spangled Banner will temporarily leave its home at the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore to travel to other Mid-Atlantic venues commemorating the bicentennial of the War of 1812, which includes the events of summer 1814. The society is lending the manuscript to the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History for a short-term display from Flag Day, June 14, through July 6, 2014. The manuscript depicts the flag as Key saw it at "dawn's early light" on the morning of September 14, 1814.

The museum, located at 14th Street and Constitution Avenue NW in Washington, DC, is open from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on most summer days but closes at 5:30 p.m. on some evenings. More information can be found at americanhistory.si.edu.

Refuge Bird Walk

Mishkan Torah Hosts Comedy Production

On Sunday, June 8 at 2 p.m., Mishkan Torah will present "The Last Laugh: A Retrospective of Herschler/Rosen Productions at Mishkan Torah." Intended as a smorgasbord of music and comedy, the production will offer a reprise of the most memorable moments in four decades of stage productions by the writing, directing and performing team of David and Evey Herschler and Jeffrey Rosen.

With the Herschlers' planned move from the area this summer, the trio plans its last bit of theatrical mayhem giving everyone a chance to laugh last and best as the show team closes the stage with a final bow. May 3 the Herschlers received Mishkan Torah's 13th Keter Shem Tov Award for their five decades of service to the synagogue beginning in the 1970s.

Highlights of the show will include a trio of hits from 1985's The Last Resort, in which Rosen made his debut. There will be three numbers from the 1987 spiel, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Purim, which had a revival showing in 2012. An affectionate tribute will be offered for Cantor Phil Greenfield, who is reported to have maintained artistic standards at Mishkan Torah through his 10th, 16th and most recently his 25th anniversaries. Tongue-in-cheek, they promise a note of class with entertainment offered by Greenfield and Nadine Wobus, who have been mainstays in various shows.

A large cast includes Yael Fischman, Saul Oresky, Yoni Charry, Bret Goldstein, Dick Wobus, Sara Rosen, Phyllis Minsky, Arlene Gottlieb, Steve Minsky in addition to the Herschlers, Rosen, Greenfield and Nadine Wobus.

There is a fee. All are invited to be present for the end of an era they call “low humor, musical mirth, high hilarity and always great fun” by the team of David and Evey Herschler and Jeffrey Rosen. Tickets can be obtained from the synagogue or online; see ad on page 8.

Arboretum to Show Lavender and Roses

The Last Dance

Our old art deco dowager twirls her last dance.
Singin' in the Rain, yes, but still singin'.
Lights out, good night sweet lady, auf wiedersehen
So long, good bye, thanks for the memories . . .

See you after the Great Transfigurative Rehab,
When a glimpse of your new stocking will again
 be thoroughly shocking,
When your new face, deftly lifted, freshly painted
Will re-seduce us
Dazzle us into a new dance, a tireder tango perhaps,
To create new memories.

Whooping Crane Migration Game

On Saturday, May 31 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Patuxent National Wildlife Refuge, those age 7 to 10 can discover in an interactive game the experiences whooping cranes face during their long migrations.

Public programs at the Patuxent Research Refuge are free, although advance registration is required by calling 301-497-5887. For more information visit the website at patuxent.fws.gov. The Visitor Center is on Powder Mill Road between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Rt. 197.

Lecture by Surrogate Whooping Crane Dad

On Saturday, May 31 at 1:30 p.m. at the Patuxent National Wildlife Refuge, join Ken Lavish, volunteer crane technician, who will share experiences raising whooping crane chicks for release into the wild.

No registration required; for more information visit the website at patuxent.fws.gov. The Visitor Center is on Powder Mill Road between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Rt. 197.

Take a Wildflower Walk on Saturday

There will be a Wildflower Walk on Saturday, May 31 from 10 a.m. to noon for all ages at the Patuxent Research Refuge North Tract. Search for wildflowers on the refuge and discover why these late spring blooms are so important in the refuge ecosystem.

Public programs at Patuxent Research Refuge are free, although advance registration is required; call 301-497-5887. The North Tract is located on Route 198 between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Route 32. For more information visit the website at patuxent.fws.gov.
